Who we Are

Birthed in 2011, Psychology and Peace Foundation is a non-profit organization that is based on the cardinal foundations of promotion of unity (in character, personality and knowledge), promotion of dialogue (religious, cultural and epistemic) and the promotion of love (human being and God, human beings and their neighbours and within the self). Our foundation through our various outreach programmes has been at the forefront of creating new narratives around the concept of peace and discovering indigenous approaches to peace building. The goals of Psychology and Peace Foundation are:

- Creating peace initiatives
- Developing peace communities in academic settings
- Promoting holistic individual formation
- Encouraging dialogue among religious and spiritual groups
- Advancing social justice needed to sustain peace
- Promoting a culture of love and understanding for everyone
- Promoting mental health
- Teaching use of empowering and empathic words
- Encouraging the exchange of knowledge and skills in research for the advancement of peace culture
- Engaging in research that promotes social justice and social responsibility
- Encouraging community development programmes
- Promoting cycles of love and peace
- Promoting the development of hobbies and careers in peace

Psychology and Peace Foundation offers the following:

Psychological Services:

Psychological evaluation, psychological testing, programme evaluation, programme development, psychotherapy, biopsychosospiritual assessment/consultation, seminar/workshop facilitation.

Peace Services:

Peace advocacy, conflict resolution, negotiation, arbitration, consultation, seminar/workshop facilitation.

Programme

Community Peace Outreach

School Peace Outreach

Family Peace Outreach

organizes conferences and workshops quarterly and annually. The foundation evangelization programmes include the establishment of peace clubs in educational institutions, radio and other media programmes.